Coahoma Junior College

Route 1, Box 616 Clarksdale, Mississippi
38614

For the record . . .

This is Coahoma Junior College.

BENEATH THE SPACIOUS SKIES IN THE NORTHERN AREA OF THE Mississippi Delta lies a citadel of learning — Coahoma Junior College.

Historically, alumni perceive Coahoma as an oasis of education — academic, vocational, and technical pursuits — with accessibility to a myriad of cultural and social exposure.

In 1949, through an act of the state legislature, Coahoma Junior College was established on the campus with the high school, and became one institution. The institution is governed by a single Board of Trustees. The president of the Junior College is also the Superintendent of the high school. This act by the legislature established a "Special School District" separating it from the county unit.

There has been a continuous, rapid growth in the college . . . from an enrollment of twenty-one (21) to approximately two thousand; . . . from a faculty of fourteen (14) to approximately one hundred (100); . . . from frame buildings to modern structures and facilities . . . from the predominate teacher-education curriculum to a multi-curriculum offerings and terminal vocational programs; pre-professional and technical programs.

The institution has utilized many federal programs to help meet the needs of our students and the school community.

People are the college, the commitment, excitement, and involvement that make Coahoma Junior College — Coahoma Junior College.

Coahoma Junior College

The President speaks . . .

For the record . . .

Coahoma County was among the first of the counties in Mississippi to provide agricultural high schools for Negroes. In 1924, County Superintendent P. F. Williams proposed the organization of a school system which would include a number of elementary and junior high schools and one central agricultural high school. Upon adoption of the proposal by the Board of Supervisors in that year, Coahoma County Agricultural High School was established.

Mr. M. L. Strange served as the first superintendent of Coahoma County Agricultural High School during the 1924-25 term. In the years which followed, four other men have headed the institution: Mr. J. H. Moseley, four years, Mr. J. W. Addison and Mr. J. B. Wright, eight years each, and Mr. B. F. McLaurin, 21 years.

The efforts to establish a junior college to serve basically a non-white clientele were enhanced by the all-around support of Mr. L. L. Bryson, who was superintendent of Coahoma County Schools during the formative years of the junior college.

Mr. B. F. McLaurin headed the Coahoma County Agricultural High School from the 1945 until 1948. When the junior college program was added in 1949, he served as president of the newly founded junior college and as the superintendent of the high school until 1966. After the junior college was added, the name of the institution was changed to Coahoma Junior College and Agricultural High School.

The first three years of the college program were conducted by one full-time director-teacher, Mrs. Zee A. Barron, and a sufficient number of part-time teachers from the high school division. Three years later, a full-time Dean, Miss M. G. Whiteside, and the second full-time teacher, Mr. Frank Gambrell were employed.

Mr. J. E. Miller headed the institution from 1966 to 1979, and Miss Whiteside served as Dean until 1973.

Presently, Coahoma Junior College and Agricultural High School is under the leadership of President Dr. M. C. Martin, who deans it an honor to have the opportunity to follow the foot steps of such capable leaders as Mr. Moseby, Mr. Addison, Mr. Wright, Mr. McLaurin, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Barron, and Dean Whiteside. Aiding Dr. Martin in his leadership are three vice presidents — Dr. Vivian Presley, Mr. Charles Reid, and Mr. George Moore. Several deans head different departments.

During its first year of operation Coahoma Junior College was supported entirely by county funds. The next year Coahoma Junior College became the first educational institution for Negroes to be included in the Mississippi System of Public Junior Colleges, and Legislature for the support of public junior colleges. Counties other than Coahoma that now support the college are Bolivar, Quitman, and Sunflower.

Since 1965, the institution has been open to all students without regard to race, color, or national origin.

Past achievements will always be a part of us; however, we must look beyond our present to the future.

The 20th century has been one of marvelous and awesome accomplishment. However wondrous the achievements thus far, our challenge is to look to the future and the possibilities it may hold — not only for the balance of this century but also for the 21st century that is just a short distance down the road.

"Moving into the 21st century" makes a catchy phrase. But will you be prepared for this new age?

Catchy phrases mean little without dynamic, progressive action to back them up. The first airplane, in the early days of this century.

Education can pave the way for you to take your place in the world of tomorrow and to be a part of the progress that is coming faster and faster. Whether our students go on to further university work, or whether they choose to take advantage of our many career training opportunities, their time at CJC, if spent wisely, can serve as a gateway to new knowledge and broader horizons.

Those who only sit and wait for the future may find, to their sorrow, that it has passed them by. Those who take the initiative and prepare themselves to go out and greet the future will be better positioned to meet its challenges and to take advantage of its opportunities.

The record shows that Coahoma Junior College and Agricultural High School students excel in all components of the school's program and in all walks of life — athletics, science, law, medicine, education, military, etc.

This year's Annual amplifies the record as we make it. Our Annual staff and sponsor are to be commended for setting the record straight.

McKinley C. Martin

The Martin's, the first family of Coahoma Junior College, was established in 1962 with the union of Dr. McKinley C. Martin, Sr. and Mrs. Willie B. Burns Martin. From the union came three lovely children — McKinley Jr., Myron Craig, and Marcia Corteze.

McKinley Jr., an honor graduate of Coahoma Agricultural High and Coahoma Junior College, is currently a third-year law student at the Texas Southern University Thurgood Marshall Law School.

Myron, also an honor graduate of Coahoma Agricultural High, is presently enrolled at Coahoma as a freshman.

Marcia, the youngest and only girl, attends Higgins Jr. High in Clarksdale.

Mrs. Martin is a teacher at Friars Point Elementary School in Friars Point, Mississippi.

Dr. Martin, the head of the family as well as this institution, took office in January of 1980.

Miss Mississippi Toni Seawright

She told me that she didn't every day. Keeps the faith in God and never forgets to pray. I prayed every time I went on stage. — (didn't want to put out)

— Toni Seawright

Miss Mississippi came to the campus of Coahoma Junior College on October 17, 1987 to help celebrate CJC-AHS Homecoming which climaxed with "Super Saturday."

Miss Seawright entertained the crowd during the halftime activities by singing "I am changing." She was accompanied by our own CJC-AHS marching band. She was presented with several awards including the Key to the City by Mayor Mayo.

She was welcomed by the community with an autograph session.

Coahoma Junior College Hosts Soviet Educator

Dr. Lily Golden, a prominent Soviet educator, visited Coahoma Junior College to talk with students and faculty members and to be honored during a luncheon on the campus. She received gifts and community mementoes presented by Mayor John Mayo, former Chamber of Commerce President Hall Fiser, and Coahoma County Supervisor Eddie C. Smith.

Her major field of study is African history and culture. She spoke of coming to America to engage in "people diplomacy."

Dr. Golden's goal was to learn more about life in America and to tell people in America about life in the Soviet Union.

Dr. Golden's visit will take her to Alabama, New York, and Washington before flying back to the Soviet Union.

Her visit was received well by the students, faculty and community.

Who's Who

1987-1988

Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges

For many years, Coahoma Junior College has been affiliated with the Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges. The prestigious honor of being selected to the Who's Who has been cherished by our students since 1969.

The method of submitting candidates for recognition in Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges has for over 50 years been an important annual effort of special nominating committees and faculty meetings. The procedure adopted should reflect your own campus attitudes and policies must have the prior approval of the head of your institution. The students are evaluated by a recommending body from your school on scholarship ability; participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities; citizenship and service to your school, and potential for future achievement.

Since 1980, Coahoma Junior College has had almost 200 students selected to the Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. This year is no exception because another group of intelligent students has been added to the list of the elite.

In Loving Memory

Joel James Davis

"Flowers bloom, discharge their seeds, and fade. The mighty oak keeps its vigor and falls in due season. Insects fade with the leaves and pass with the closing year. For man, death comes at all seasons and to all ages, but since we believe in the promise of the Resurrection and Life Eternal, we submit and humbly say 'Amen'."

Joel James Davis, the son of Idella and Sam Davis, was born October 15, 1949 in Clarksdale. He was one of three sons. His parents and his brothers preceded him in death.

He was a member of Friendship African Methodist Episcopal Church, where he served as steward.

A competent, diligent employee of Coahoma Junior College, Mr. Davis served as instructor in the Vocational Technical Education Division, assistant learning manager of the CETA, Adult Basic Education and General Education Degree programs, coordinator of Project Parchman, and dean of the Division of Continuing Education.

Since the existence of Coahoma Junior College, our school has thrived on its rich athletic heritage. Whether it's football, baseball, basketball, or track, our athletes have always strived to be the best in their sport. During the days of old all of our teams were recognized throughout the state as one of the best athletic junior colleges around. During the seventies, our lady tigers, under the capable leadership of Coach Ella Stampley, regained their recognition as they won state and regional titles as well as being a runner-up in national honors. The ladies remained the dominant sports figure on campus until last year when the men's basketball team, coached by James Washington, regained its respect by winning the State Championship along with winning more than twenty games. Our teams have always strived for success and will continue to do so.

Editors-in-Chief

Myron Martin (Freshman)

As Editor of this year's annual, it gives me great pleasure to present to you the 1988 Coahoman. There is a certain sense of fulfillment in knowing that I have taken part in putting together a Yearbook that my peers and I can reminisce about years from now. In keeping with this year's theme "For the Record," our staff has attempted to backtrack through time to show the progress and achievements that this fine institution has accomplished during its thirty-nine years of existence. We feel that after almost forty years, it is most fitting to look back at the past and compare it with the present so that we can prepare for the future. For the record, it has been hard work preparing this Yearbook but after enduring through the long hours of work, we take pride in presenting to you the 1988 Coahoman.

Cheryl Furdge (Freshman)

The 1988 Coahoman salutes you. In our theme, "For the Record," we tried to put our hands on those things we hold close to our hearts such as Homecoming, Who's Who, and other important activities that happened throughout the year. Trying to catch those memories on film was very challenging. Working with the staff was enjoyable and I trust they enjoyed working with me.

To next year's staff, do not let obstacles stand in the way of what needs to be done. GOOD LUCK!

CHERYL FURDGE

My Fellow Coahomans,

It gives me great honor and great pleasure to present to you the 1987-88 Coahoman. Filling the position of Editor has been both an enriching and rewarding experience. Many long hours went into the production of this year's yearbook and the staff has worked diligently, dutifully, and faithfully to produce a yearbook filled with new and innovative ideas.

This year's yearbook sets a precedent in the changes made and changes that the staff felt were necessary to improve the quality of the book and to exemplify the true spirit of Coahoma Junior College. The staff hopes that the students will take a greater interest in next year's yearbook to improve the quality of the Coahoman. I would like to thank my fellow Editors Myron Martin and Cheryl Furdge — you're the Greatest.

In conclusion, to the Students of Coahoma Junior College, I hope the 1988 edition of the Coahoman will leave a lasting impression of this year. We have done our best to provide you with the greatest and hope you appreciate the effort on our part. To the class of 1988, may God bless each of you and may success follow you through the day of your lives.

Editor,
Mitchell Allen

Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges

1986-1987

The 1987 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN JUNIOR COLLEGES will include the names of 20 students from Coahoma Junior College who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Students named this year from Coahoma Junior College are:

1. Ms. Sonja H. Crumble
2. Ms. Mary Fitzgerald
3. Mr. Barry George

Joining Forces

Coahoma Agricultural High School is a beautiful scenic campus on the site of a junior college. Life for the students is a busy one. Their days are spent involved mostly with a most important activity — academics. Other hours are spent cheering, playing basketball, football, and baseball; marching in the band, clubs and organizations, and other extracurricular activities. One favorite activity which is without a doubt the most entertaining is the "Womanless Wedding." It inspires young men to mimic their preconceived ideas of how they see the female.

Coahoma Agricultural High School was established in 1924 for the purposes of training black youths in basic education, farm employment, domestic employment, and homemaking. Dormitory facilities were provided to accommodate students from across the state.

With a small faculty of less than fifteen, some of whom did not have a college degree, the faculty grew to more than forty — all having a college degree; more than half with master's; one with a specialist degree. The curriculum expanded from basic subject matter to a multi-discipline program.

There has been a continuous growth from 1924 to the present faculty, curriculum development, facilities, student activities, financial support, library facilities, student services, and teaching supplies and equipment.

Historically, life at Aggie has been one to boast about. Let's take a look . . .

If one knows where he came from and critically looks at where he is, he then can plot a straight line to any place he desires to go. Keeping this viewpoint in mind, we, the faculty and staff of Coahoma Agricultural High, try to instill in our students the pride that is embedded in our rich heritage.

Coahoma County Agricultural High School was established in 1924 to meet the needs of all Negro children of Coahoma and adjacent counties. To provide even greater educational opportunities for the Negro Youth and adults of Coahoma County, the high school curriculum was extended to a junior — or community — college in 1949. Since that time, graduates of the institution have gone afar doing all the things other high school graduates do, but doing them with a greater degree of enthusiasm.

Coahoma Agricultural High School is located on the junior college campus. Its location has many advantages. Offering general education, pre-professional and vocational-technical programs, Coahoma Agricultural High is pressing forward in its quest for continued growth and development and is strengthening its sixty-three-year tradition of quality and excellence in education. By not denying education to any of the social classes, Coahoma AHS has assured the community that it plays a vital role in the growth and development of its citizens.

Homecoming Activities

Annually, Coahoma Agricultural High School celebrates the crowning of Mr. and Miss A.H.S. and Miss Homecoming during Homecoming Week. This is a week of grand display in honor of the "Mighty Tigers."

During the week, each day is portrayed by a different activity. This year the following activities occurred.

October (12-16)

Kiddy Day

Tacky Day

Dress-up Day

Western Day

Maroon and White Day

As a joint effort the high school and college try to observe the same days.

To culminate the week, Super Saturday is brought on by a grand parade down the streets of Clarksdale. The Grand Marshall leads the parade and is followed by prancing bands and cheerleaders, decorative floats and cars, and hundreds of onlookers.

Finally, the big Homecoming games are played. Aggie plays at 1:30 p.m. and Coahoma plays at 7:30 p.m. During halftime the Homecoming Queens are crowned.

Tacky, Western and Kiddy Days

What is dis ya'll?

Howdy folks.

We wus jamming.

My, ain't we purty.

Howdy partner.

Weez a harty pair.

Clubs and Organizations

Tri-Hi-Y

Sponsors: Mrs. Patricia Brown — Miss Jamesetta Powell

The term Tri-Hi-Y is used in referring to any of the following YMCA sponsored clubs for young people of high school age. Hi-Y are boys' clubs, Tri-Hi-Y clubs are girls' clubs and co-ed Hi-Y include both boys and girls.

Clubs are usually sponsored by the YMCA nearest the members' homes or the state YMCA. All clubs have an adult advisor.

The Tri-Hi-Y is international in scope, Christian in emphasis, interdenominational in character and democratic in practice.

The Tri-Hi-Y club uses as many key people as possible. A club of thirty members or more should have the following elected officers:

1. President, presides over meetings
2. Vice President, handles all programs
3. Secretary, keeps minutes of meetings
4. Treasurer, keeps up with all finances
5. Project chairman, handles all service and fund-raising campaigns
6. Chaplain, handles devotion and all religious areas of the club
7. Sergeant-at-Arms — maintains order in meetings
8. Social chairman, handles all recreational and social events of the club
9. Reporter, keeps a record of all activities of the club

The membership fee in the Mississippi, Regional and National Fellowship is $5.00 per member per school year. Local dues are set by each individual club.

Hi-Y

Sponsor: Mr. John Brown

The term Hi-Y is used in referring to any of the following YMCA sponsored clubs for young people of high school age. Hi-Y are boys' clubs, Tri-Hi-Y clubs are girls' clubs and co-ed Hi-Y include both boys and girls.

Clubs are usually sponsored by the YMCA nearest the members' homes or the state YMCA. All clubs have an adult advisor.

The Hi-Y is international in scope, Christian in emphasis, interdenominational in character and democratic in practice.

The Hi-Y club uses as many key people as possible. A club of thirty members or more should have the following elected officers:

1. President, presides over meetings
2. Vice President, handles all programs
3. Secretary, keeps minutes of meetings
4. Treasurer, keeps up with all finances
5. Project chairman, handles all service and fund-raising campaigns.
6. Chaplain, handles devotion and all religious areas of the club
7. Sergeant-at-Arms, maintains order in meetings
8. Social chairman, handles all recreational and social events of the club
9. Reporter, keeps a record of all activities of the club

The membership fee in the Mississippi, Regional and National Fellowship is $5.00 per member per school year. Local dues are set by each individual club.

Future Business Leaders of America

Sponsor: Mrs. Eva Childress

The purpose of the FBLA is to develop competent, aggressive business leadership; to strengthen the confidence of students in themselves and their work; to create more interest in and understanding of American business enterprise; and to encourage members in the development of individual projects which contribute to the improvement of homes, businesses, and community.

Class Favorites

Class Favorites are a select group of young boys and girls who are chosen by their classmates in a general election. This group consists of boys and girls who have excelled in particular areas of academics or extra-curricular activities. Two individuals represent different areas of expertise.

Each year the senior class votes on what categories will be portrayed. Then, with the aid of the senior class advisors, each of the twelve categories is filled by deserving members of the senior class. This is an annual event which allows students to depict certain standards the entire year.

Marcus C. Reeves

Editor

This school term has been an exciting as well as an educational experience. In drafting this year's yearbook we have tried to capture all the memorable moments which have made this year such a spectacular experience.

We have collected numerous photographs, articles, and statistics to support this year's theme, "For the Record." After putting all of our information together, we've come up with what we think is the best yearbook ever at CJC and AHS. By helping to create this yearbook I feel that I've learned something important to this institution.

I hope that this yearbook illustrates the pride that we the students at Coahoma Junior College and Agricultural High School have in our school.

Sincerely yours,
Marcus C. Reeves
Editor

Christopher Furdge Editor

As far as being Editor of the 1987-88 yearbook, I must say that it has been a great experience as well as a pleasure to have had the opportunity to produce this year's yearbook for you. Many days, it seemed as if most of our deadlines would not be met, but as the old saying does "A quitter never wins and a winner never quits." This year's theme "For the Record" symbolizes another year of the dedication and hard work of a yearbook staff.

I have enjoyed gathering for the social history as well as the academic history of this campus. I have benefited from this experience greatly and would like to thank my co-workers for complimenting me so well.

Thank you.
CHRISTOPHER FURDGE

Frances Silket Co-Editor

In keeping with this year's theme, "For the Record . . .," we have tried to bring out important highlights that will become part of the everlasting record of Coahoma Agricultural School.

As Co-Editor of the 1987-88 Aggian, I am pleased to say that I am proud of the book that we have brought to you. Though this was my first year, I have enjoyed working as part of the yearbook staff. Some members have worked harder than others, but through all of the tedious work, we've learned work together.

A heartfelt thanks goes out to the members of the staff who were always there to make sure that everything was done properly and that most every deadline was met. We may have missed a deadline or two, but not because we did not try to meet them. To our advisor, Miss Powell, I would also like to say "Thanks for being there."

To you the viewers, I hope you enjoy this yearbook, because we have done our best to make this the best yearbook ever.
Thank you.

Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges

1986-1987

The 1987 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN JUNIOR COLLEGES will include the names of 20 students from Coahoma Junior College who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders. Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success. They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934. Students named this year from Coahoma Junior College are:

1. Ms. Sonja H. Crumble

2. Ms. Mary Fitzgerald

3. Mr. Barry George

4. Mr. Harry V. Hawkins

5. Mr. Jessie B. Houston

6. Mr. Kizaar Jefferson
